Program Title: Jimi Hendrix: Electric Church
Distributor: PBS Fundraising Programming (FRP)
Type: Documentary
Dates Aired: 2/25/2023 10:30pm 56.1 60 minutes

Description: This critically acclaimed documentary traces Jimi Hendrix's journey to the Atlanta International Pop Festival and features 16mm multi-camera footage of his unforgettable performance on July 4, 1970. Against the backdrop of civil rights unrest, the toll of the Vietnam War and a burgeoning festival culture inspired by Woodstock that drew young people from across the country, the concert took place in a dusty, scorching hot pecan orchard in Byron, Georgia.

Hendrix drew nearly 500,000 people to his "Electric Church" for a concert that included "Purple Haze," "All Along the Watchtower," "Voodoo Child," "Freedom," "Straight Ahead" and many more. The performance footage of Hendrix with Experience drummer Mitch Mitchell and bassist Billy Cox has been restored from the original negative in high definition and the audio soundtrack includes stereo and 5.1 surround sound mixes by Eddie Kramer directly from the original master tapes.

Issue: ARTS/CULTURES
Program Title: Elvis Presley: '68 Comeback Special
Distributor: PBS Fundraising Programming (FRP)
Type: Performance
Dates Aired: 3/13/2023 8:00pm 56.1 60 minutes

Description: Throughout the 1950s, Elvis Presley led the rock and roll revolution in music and pop culture. In the 1960s, he concentrated mainly on his successful movie career. By 1968, it had been more than seven years since he had appeared on stage in front of a live audience.

In June of 1968, Elvis taped his first television special in Burbank, California. It aired on December 3 of that same year and accomplished two things: it saved his career and showcased some of the best music of his life. Premiering on NBC, it attracted 42% of the viewing audience, was the network's biggest ratings victory that year and the season's top-rated show. It stands today as one of the great moments in rock music history and as a stunningly brilliant milestone in Elvis' career.

Issue: ARTS/CULTURE

Program Title: Path to Happily Ever After with Rajiv Nagaich
Producer: Incandescent Entertainment, Inc.
Type: Documentary/Interview
Dates Aired: 2/25/2023 5:00 pm 56.1 90 minutes

Description: What does it take to live “happily ever after” during your retirement years? How can you grow old in the home you know and love—without going broke and without burdening your family? These are the questions elder law attorney and retirement planning expert Rajiv Nagaich answers in The Path to Happily Ever After. Drawing on his own family’s experiences and those of thousands of clients during his 20+ years as an elder law attorney, Rajiv shines the spotlight on a problem no one else is addressing. Americans who follow traditional retirement planning advice are almost certain to experience their worst nightmares after a health crisis. A staggering 70% of American retirees are forced into institutional care. Just as many go broke due to unplanned care costs and become a burden on family members. In The Path to Happily Ever After, Rajiv explains why this tragic trifecta happens so often—and how to avoid it. Rajiv’s groundbreaking new approach to retirement planning—LifePlanning—delivers a master plan that seamlessly coordinates health, housing, finances, legal, and family issues in retirement. This integrated planning process makes it possible to avoid being forced to move after a health crisis, avoid losing assets to unplanned care costs, and avoid becoming a burden on loved ones. In The Path to Happily Ever After, Rajiv explains the essential planning steps and, most importantly, how to develop the framework for these elements to work in concert toward the goals that matter most. Rajiv’s formula for retirement planning has helped thousands of Americans find their path to happily ever after.

Program Title: Mental Fitness
Series Title: To The Contrary with Bonnie Erbe (Episode #3116)
Producer: PBS
Type: Interview/Discussion
Date Aired: 1/15/2023 11:00 a.m. 56.1 30 minutes

Description: Tell me what wonder mind brings to the table that is new and how you expect it to change things.

MANDY TEEFEY: Well, we're hoping to encourage more people to pay attention to it. That also have the financial resources to keep getting the message out there. But also we're doing it in a media format and less medicinal. So that's kind of what we're trying to do is through media, we have to take accountability for the way mental health has been portrayed. Therefore, we need to take accountability to how we can show it's like differences. Like there are wonderful movies out there like Girl Interrupted, but that isn't exactly what mental health is today. That isn't exactly everybody's journey. And, you know, taking away, being strong and just always being in control. It's like we all need to have this discussion in a more community way.

Program Title: Episode #742
Series Title: One Detroit
Producer: WTVS/Detroit Public Television
Type: Interview/Discussion
Date Aired: 3/16/2023 7:30 pm 56.1 30 minutes

Description: Michigan lawmakers pass bills on gun control, LGBTQ+ rights, abortion and the right to work

Lansing has been a hotbed for legislative action in recent weeks as Michigan lawmakers tackled gun control, LGBTQ+ rights, abortion and the right to work in a slate of new bills passed and repealed in several legislative sessions across the House and Senate.

Additional gun safety laws — safe storage laws, universal background checks and red flag laws — have been passed by lawmakers and LGBTQ+ protections will be added to the Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act. Lawmakers also repealed the 2012 right to work law signed into action by former Gov. Rick Snyder and the 1931 abortion ban. Gov. Gretchen Whitmer signed the bill to expand LGBTQ+ protections this afternoon, the same day the Michigan Senate approved a trio of proposals related to gun safety.

One Detroit senior producer Bill Kubota sits down with Michigan Radio Political Director Zoe Clark to get a rundown on what lawmakers passed and where they stood on the issues. They talk about the impact of the recent mass shooting at Michigan State University on gun control conversations, the legislature's bipartisan support of the Elliott-Larsen amendment, and the controversy around the right to work.

Gen Xers are taking the lead. How will they shape the future of work?

Hidden from the spotlight until now, Gen Xers have quietly become the next generation of workforce leaders, rising to C-suite level positions, as they take on new roles and talk about hiring for positions that don't exist yet. At the same time Gen Xers are juggling the heightened responsibilities at work, they're navigating more responsibilities at home as they take care of kids and aging parents.

As Gen Xers take the helm where baby boomers have retired, how will their leadership styles and strengths continue to shape the future of work?

One Detroit producer and Future of Work host Will Glover spoke to Michigan Works Association! CEO Ryan Hundt about what the future looks like with Generation X in charge. They talk about the cohort's most notable workforce trends, the value of Gen Xers in the office, and how often they've been promoted on average compared to other generations.

Description: Fostering refugees: Ukrainian families find new home with metro Detroit Armenian community.

It's been one year since Russian military forces invaded Ukraine, and several families have flocked to the United States to seek refuge. The nonprofit social services agency Samaritas has logged more than 600 case files for Ukrainians who are resettling in metro Detroit, which has a large population of Ukrainian Americans on the city's east side. As Ukrainian refugees settled into their new homes here, one educational community quickly opened its doors to receive and support them.

Over the past year, more than 100 Ukrainian refugee students have arrived at the AGBU Alex and Marie Manoogian School, a K-12 school in Southfield that began in 1969 as an all-Armenian school and later transformed into a charter school open to all students. The school has also added three new ESL teachers to its roster to meet the needs of its new students.

Despite the changes impacting the school and its new refugee students, the Armenian and Ukrainian communities have found a common bond with each other. One Detroit's Bill Kubota sits down with students, teachers and administrators at the Manoogian School to learn about the common thread that connects these two communities throughout history and how some refugee students are responding to the war back home.

Program Title: DET BLACK POLITICAL POWER|MSU SHOOTING
Series Title: American Black Journal (Episode #5108)
Distributor: WTVS/Detroit Public Television
Type: Interview/Discussion
Date Aired: 2/21/2023 7:30pm 56.1 30 minutes

Description: On the next American Black Journal, we've teamed up with BridgeDetroit to examine the changes in Detroit's Black political power in Washington. For the first time in nearly 70 years, the city does not have an African American representative in Congress. We'll take a closer look at what led to this loss in Black political representation and its impact on a city that is nearly 80-percent African American.

Host Stephen Henderson leads a conversation with BridgeDetroit Executive Director and Editor Catherine Kelly about a BridgeDetroit and WDET-produced podcast series that takes a close look at Black political power and features interviews with some of the Congressional candidates, including elected representatives Shri Thanedar and Rashida Tlaib. The two talk about how the newly-elected lawmakers will represent Black interests in the city and what the future looks like for the city's Black political representation.

Also, BridgeDetroit Engagement Director Orlando Bailey sits down with longtime Detroit political consultant Adolph Mongo to talk about the city's Black political power over the years, along with how it changed and why. The two also discuss the role of redistricting in last year's election results and Black voter turnout in Detroit.

And, we'll close the show with Henderson's conversation with Dr. Lekie Dwanyen, an assistant professor in Michigan State University's Department of Human Development and Family Studies, about the emotional trauma resulting from the mass shooting on MSU's campus and how we can all better cope and heal from the tragedy. Dr. Dwanyen also talks about the mood on MSU's campus and how the university community can best move forward.
